Rev N. A. Parker, pastor of the Fayetteville church, spent Sunday in Marlinton as guest of Rev Nickell and preached very acceptably to fine audiences at Marlinton and Edray.

Rev. H. W. McLaughlin will preach at Cass next Sunday at 2:30 p. m., and will organize a Sunday school at that time. Also preaching at Liberty at 8 p. m.

Strawberries ripe tomatoes, green peas, radishes and onions indicate that Marlinton tries to keep up an up-to-date appearance after ceasing to royster with the oyster.

It may be all right to scrape an acquaintance when he steps off a Marlinton train but don't bleed him, for the sake of the town even if he should have speculative blood in his eye.

Mrs E. I. Holt, of Academy, has another parrot. Last summer her parrot got away and flew to the woods where it was shot by a hunter who did not recognize it, but thought it some strange bird that had come in here and deserved to die.

James Smith who has been nine years in the employ of Hon Wm Curry at Huntersville has bought himself a home in Highland and moved to it last week. Thus by making a little and saving a heap he has mastered for himself a flattering and hopeful situation in his early manhood.

A solitary Indian hen has been uttering its weird like shriek of "shoot," "shoot," the last week up and down the river. We hope our worthy shot gun contingent will not heed the challenge but let the poor bird have it out with the tadpoles and crawfish. It doesn't know what it is trying to say but it knows how to do its own business just the same.

A friend in need is not always a friend indeed. Some one about Marlinton has just found that out, for such a friend nowadays usually wants to borrow money. A few days since this financial proposal was made on the street. "Lend me ten cents and next Monday I will give you a quarter in return." That capitalist by not investing the dime lost the opportunity to make 150 per cent in promises.

Mrs Moran, an aged lady, did on Beaver Creek April 30 after a lingering and painful illness. Her remains were borne to the Buckeye graveyard Wednesday and placed by her husband who had preceded her a few months to the unseen world. Mrs McNeill of Dry Branch, Mrs Wm Auldridge of Buckeye, Mrs Piles, Mrs Lewis and Mrs Slaton of Beaver Creek are her daughters. Mrs Moran was a member of the McLarue relationship of South-West Virginia.

As a specimen of the humorous transpiring on a Huntersville street last Monday morning, April 29th, let the following suffice: There was a group of three persons when a fourth came up remarking as he joined the party, "Over on Williams river, or on Elk, the ramps is the first to come up but in Huntersville our first blossom is the sweet william and here is a sweet william posey to prove it." The posey was composed of the following: Wm Curry, Wm Cole, Wm Price and the humorous one, Wm Grose.

A very pleasant and quiet social occurrence transpired Wednesday evening, May 1st, at 8 p. m. at the residence of Marvin Carter, east Marlinton, when Oliver Clinton Lemon, of Ronceverte, and Miss Jennie Bennett, of Maryland, were joined in the state of holy matrimony, Rev W. T. Price officiating. The bridal party was chaperoned by Miss Georgiana Hanna, escorted by Forrest Malcomb, of Greenbrier County. The groom is a brakeman on the Greenbrier R. R. He was a volunteer in the Cuban war and belonged to the 1st W. Va. Vol. Infantry. The bride is one of Mrs S. I. Boggs' assistants in the millinery store. Miss Bennett came to Marlinton from the eastern shore of Maryland and has made many friends in her present home. Quite a number of spectators were present at the ceremony and elegant refreshments were served during the evening.

A man of words and not of deeds is like a garden full of weeds. I am prepared to back up my advertisement that I am selling standard percales at 7½ cts a yard. You don't need a dressmaker if you will buy a wash suit for $1.98: they are nice and cool. I have just received a new line of ladies' night gowns, wash skirts and chemise made by a prominent manufacturer who did not deliver them according to contract and had to make some concessions in order to make me keep them. I will give you the benefit. I have just received a nice line of infants' tan slippers from 3½ to 6. It is the real thing for the little tots. It is one Butt strap sandal for 49 cents. Last Saturday was a great shirt day. One of the prominent gentlemen bought four of these nice cooling imported shirts for only 74c. Are you in need of a shirt? You better look at my line and get my prices.—Paul Golden.

Mrs Bertie Woods is on a visit to Hinton.

Dr H. W. McNeel was in Marlinton last Saturday.

Droop Siding is called Sandbar by a number of local people.

Mrs J. R. Anderson is visiting her friends at Frankford.

S. B. Scott, Jr. has purchased the drug-store near the bridge.

Noah Alderman died last Thursday of meningitis, aged about 60 years.

I. W. Curry near the Warwick spring has sold his farm to Walter Mann.

A young son of Alex Long, of Academy, has been very ill of meningitis.

A. S. Hodges of Lobelia, was in Marlinton last week, coming from Locust by rail.

Forrest Malcomb from Greenbrier is on an excursion to Pocahontas.

O. Miles has gone to make to make his home with A. M. McLaughlin of Greenbrier.

Mrs Andrew Price is away for some weeks with friends and relatives in the Levels and Lewisburg.

W. C. McLaughlin and Miss Lucy Geiger of Clover Creek were in Marlinton Saturday.

J. A. Lanty and Dennis Dever were in Marlinton Thursday arranging for farming operations.

We have a "Union News-boy" on the train now. It is consequently more expensive to travel on the road.

S. B. Moore, of Edray, favored Marlinton with one of his few and far between visits Wednesday of last week.

While at play in the hay mow, Ruth, daughter of Albert Sharp, fell fracturing her collar bone and dislocating her shoulder.

E. E. Allen has retired from the firm of Tyree & Allen and has become a partner of the firm of Zombro & Allen, painters.

Romeo Boggs, a son of James Boggs, died at S. H. Clark's, near Academy, last week, of meningitis. He was about 21 years.

Somebody broke open a sealed car at this place last week and took a case of spirits, thereby qualifying himself for the penetentiary.

Zane Moore, of the Huntersville hotel, was in Marlinton Thursday assisting in loading Col O'Connell's chartered car for White Sulphur.

Rev G. W. Nickell returned from Presbytery and reports a very good meeting and speeks highly of the hospitality of the Frankford people.

Messr Couch and others connected with the Clover Creek Cattle Co. contemplate the erection of a summer home for their families on highest Elk mountain.

Geo S. and C. B. Couch were in Pocahontas last week looking after their lands on Elk and Clover Creek. They have bought A. M. McLaughlin's cattle.

Mrs Lucy Curry, of Huntersville, has been quite ill with throat trouble that threatened to become chronic but there is reason to believe the ailment will be relieved.

Train service to Cass is still delayed. It is the intention of the company to put the roadbed in such a condition that it will be absolutely safe.

Geo. W. Callison has returned from Kentucky with four thoroughbred horses. He was compelled to unload them at Renick, the nearest cattle pens on this railway.

At the watering tank at Anthony is one of the grandest mineral springs in the country. When the engineer oils his engine at that point it is possible to get a good drink of water.

The show at this place last Friday was a decided disappointment. It was a ten cent show with fifty cents for admission. There was a poor turnout from the country but the show got more patronage than it deserved.

The railroad men report a great great destruction of merchandise on one of the trains on the Greenbrier Railway. A case of matches was broken into and three matches are gone out of one box. The injured merchant will take matter up with the head-office of the company.

Don't send your printing away from the county unless you can get as good a job at as cheap rates as your home office can do it. The Times-office will compete with any list of prices you can furnish and probably save you cost and expressage. We have put in a lot of improvements, the object of which is to do printing cheaply. If you can get as good printing done as cheaply and conveniently away from here we cannot kick. If, however, we can treat you better let us do the work. We will print you 1000 letter heads padded and 1000 envelopes for $5.00. Labels, shipping tags, posters, pamphlets, cards, etc at correspondingly cheap rates.

You need clothing. I expect to sell it too, why shouldn't I? My stock is the largest and I have reason to believe that my prices are the lowest. You are to be the judge. Success or failure of a merchant is in the question of profit. If goods are constantly sold below cost, failure will and to come. If prices are marked up people will not patronize often. I would rather sell a little cheaper than too high. Ladies' vests in plain white and striped. It may sound incredible to say that my line of straw hats is superior to any other here. Come and see the facts are facts. Here are the hats. They speak for themselves. Come and see them. Paul Golden.

Greenbrier Presbytery.

Greenbrier Presbytery met at Frankford, May 1st, 8 p. m., and opened with a sermon by Rev E. E. Patterson, from the text: "His thoughts troubled him."—Dan. v, 6; constituted with prayer by Rev N. A. Parker, last moderator present.

Rev. F. P. Sydenstricker was chosen moderator and Rev C. D. Gilkeson and Elder Edgar Campbell, temporary clerks.

Rev McC. White and Ruling Elder Jonathan Mayse were appointed commissioners to the General Assembly at Little Rock, May 16.

Rev D. M. Layton of Lexington Presbytery was present as corresponding member. Rev Richardson of the M. E. Church South was introduced as a visiting brother.

Rev C. D. Gilkeson signified his acceptance of calls to Richlands and Clifton churches. Dr Lacy, Dr Telford and Rev McC. White, with Elders J. D. Arbuckle and Buster were appointed a committee of installation for both churches.

Rev F. G. Hartman was authorized to supply Lacy Church until the next stated meeting.

Rev Sloane, Parker and Holt, with Elder E. G. Hinnan of Fayetteville were appointed a commission to organize a church at Kenawha Falls if the way be clear.

Rev G. W. Nickell presented a report of the publication cause.

Presbyterial sermon was preached by Rev H. W. McLaughlin from the text, "Him hath God exalted with his right hand to be a prince and a Savior to give repentance to Israel and forgiveness of sins."—Acts v, 21.

Rev McC. White reported very favorably on home evangelization.

Dr D. S. Sydenstricker reported on foreign missions.

Dr Lacy was appointed to canvass the churches for the purpose of raising funds to establish a Presbyterial School for boys

Liberty Church in Upper Pocahontas was chosen as the place of the next stated meeting, September 24, 1901.

An Interesting Law-Suit.

The suit of Hurxthal's Admr. v St Lawrence Boom & Manufacturing Company was decided last week at the Lewisburg court, damages being allowed the plaintiff to the amount of $4000. The case consumed six days in trying. Henry Gilmer spoke three hours in the defense of the suit, making one of the best speeches ever heard in that court house. Williams and Dice won out for the plaintiff.

The suit involved the question of water power on the Greenbrier River. The big mill at Ronceverte is situated just above Hurxthal's flouring mill, and the building of the company's dam destroyed the water power of the flouring mill.

There was a contract between the parties that the dam should have the effect of giving a certain head of water to the mill race. The plaintiff claimed damages on account of breach of this contract and prevailed, receiving a verdict for the large sum of $4000. The defendants will apply for a writ of error.

Will French Killed.

Will French, a colored man, who has been working in Marlinton since 1899, was instantly killed by the cars at Whitcomb junction last Saturday morning.

He stole a ride on the circus train that took out the show that was here last week. At Whitcomb the train was blocked to let a westbound freight go by on the main line.

French and a companion got off the Greenbrier train and walking forward attemped to board the west-bound freight. French was intoxicated and missed his hold and fell under the train and was literally ground to pieces. It is said that his head was the largest piece they found of his remains.

The deceased was a very good darkey when sober but when under the influence of liquor was very reckless. He has the reputation of being one of the best horsemen in this country and was formerly with A. D. A. Bruce.

Mrs Isaac Sharp.

It is with sorrow that we record the decease of Mrs Isaac Sharp near Edray Monday afternoon, May 6th, aged about forty years. Her parents were Mr and Mrs Taylor Moore of the same vicinity. She is survived by her husband, Isaac Sharp, six daughters and one son, the eldest about 16 years of age.

In all the relations of life Mrs Sharp was a very excellent personality and her loss is with mother and neighbor, is most sincerely lamented. Our Heavenly Father who does not afflict willingly nor grieve the children of men will in his own time and way comfort those that mourn and bind up the broken heart. W. F. S.

S. I. Payne Badly Hurt.

Last Tuesday S. I. and Henry Payne were filling horseback engagements in the Levels going at it in a lively pace, when the horse ridden by S. I. Payne suddenly fell. Then the horse ridden by Henry Payne fell on top. Both riders were stunned, but Henry Payne recovered almost at once. S. I. Payne suffered something like concussion of the brain, and was laid up for a few days in coming around.

We stand as high as any of the leading merchants in this country until it comes to prices. That's where we are beneath them all. The Pocahontas Bargain House.

BUFFALO BILL'S SHOW.

Some Incidents of his Big Exhibition.

Some attention is being directed to Col W. F. Cody, better known as "Buffalo Bill," partly because his show is on the road and partly because it is recognized by all that should anything happen to Major McKinley so that Col Roosevelt should become President, Col Cody would be offered the position of Secretary of State and exert as much influence in national affairs as Col Mark Hanna is now supposed to wield over the administration.

We went to the show at Clifton Forge last week and admitted that we went their for no other purpose. An honest confession is good for the soul. So many persons had business in Clifton Forge that day and took advantage of the low rate on the railroad to attend to it.

This show is one of the most remarkable entertainments in the world. It carries near a thousand persons and several hundred horses. The horses are perfect specimens and the men are very quiet and respectful and seem to be under very strict discipline. They live in splendid cars, Col Cody's own private car being the handsomest we have ever seen.

About three acres of level land is fenced up with shed tents, in which are some four or five thousand people. In comes about three hundred men of various nationalities and all ride around in a furious gallop raising a dust so that you cannot see the nearest horse—that's Buffalo Bill's show.

An old stage coach drawn by four mules comes in and trots around a hundred foot circle in fancied security. It is the Deadwood coach. But, hist! Bull Neck and his painted warriors are even now waiting to attack the stage coach and in another moment the wily and revengelul savages burst through the curtain and ride around the coach firing their guns and yelling. The driver of the Deadwood coach proceeds to drive around the 100 foot circle oblivious of the fact that forty or fifty daring and desperate warriors are harassing him in that kind of style. His faith brings its own reward, for lo! Buffalo Bill and a gang of cow-boys charge fearless from the left wing and ride around the outside circle and drive off the brutal and bloodthirsty Injuns.

A cow outfit which performs in a somewhat limited space also wins out in the same manner.

The taking of Pekin by the allied forces is very fine but the smoke from the blank cartridges keeps you from pecking, so to speak. We would advise the use of smokeless powder so that we may see Pekin fall.

There are no women in Buffalo Bill's show except some squaws who ride straddle and an Arabian female who looks like our wash lady and who comes in and dances with the grace of that gazelle known as the saw-buck.

There are no clowns; no lady performers; no ring master. Just blank cartridges, hard riding, lariat throwing and things of that sort.

There are four or five bucking ponies which make desperate attempts to throw their riders and are genuine devils. No horse could be trained to fight, jump and buck like those ponies.

The privilege of staying out of the side show is worth ten cents.

About dusk a strange cavalcade came riding into town. Indians, Cossacks, Cowboys, Mexicans, Arabs, scouts, guides, and regular soldiers of the armies of America, England, Germany and Russia. To see this mixture from all the world riding along a country road is a novel and pleasing experience.

The Indian on close acquaintance proves to be a dirty, lousy, low-down red man and that is the best words we can call him.

The Indians had a very ordinary looking wooden car to live in. After supper they climbed on top of the car and scratched themselves while the elite of Clifton Forge paraded up and down the plank walk in front of the Glady's Inn and looked at them.

One beautiful young lady of perhaps twenty summers dressed in the heighth of fashion, with golden hair, was very much interested in Lo, the poor Indian. One big buck Indian standing by the steps of the car said something to her several times as follows, to-wit: "Huh, Wick a woo woo!" She was much interested and wished so much to know what he was saying. A Rough Rider came along and told her. "He says, 'I want you for my squaw.'" The last we saw of the Indians they were still roosting on top of the car with the train pulling toward the west.

The Cossacks, Arabs and Mexicans wear their own peculiar costumes but we noticed one sad-looking duck stumping along the railroad track in an Arabian costume and a pair of Douglas shoes.

After seeing Buffalo Bill and his outfit we are impressed with the idea that during the season he could accept a cabinet position very reluctantly. That it will be a sad day for him when he ceases to plunk at his 310 smooth Indians with blank cartridges and when he leaves the sod in great chunks in the arena no more. But Teddy stands next to the President's chair and should fate have a spite on us and make him President—I know of no man who could so help him fill this great American spectacle as Buffalo Bill Cody. Shakespeare says, "All the world's a stage and all of us are players," or words to that effect.

Many loads of the long st timbers ever seen on wheels in Marlinton are being hauled to the works up the river.

Does Advertising Pay?

Mr Golden, of the Golden store is an advertiser who has proved and is demonstrating every day that advertising pays and by persisting in intelligent advertising he has built up an excellent business in this county. Through the courtesy of Mr Golden we publish below his reasons for advertising.

"I advertise in the newspapers because I am not ashamed of my goods and my work and to let people know what I have.

"Because I cater to the intelligent class and they read the papers and I believe in increasing my business.

"Because I can talk to more people through the newspapers at a greater distance in less time and at a more reasonable rate than in any other way. Because my newspaper advertisements have brought me greater returns for the least expenditure of any advertising I can do.

"Because, when I write an 'ad' I am not too stingy to buy the cheapest article on the market and sell it at what it cost, because if I buy an article for 10cts and sell it for 18 or 20 cts I am not giving you any bargain as the goods are manufactured so cheap and the material so poor like Job's turkey. But I am advertising a suit for boys from 6 to 15 at 75c. It is a neat herring bone pattern made perfect and it is marked to sell for $1.50. The manufacturer (I am not talking about the jobber as I buy my goods from first hands) got into a hard place and his creditors sold his stock at auction, hence you are getting the benefit. Then my 'ad' is seen and read by most every one in the house where the paper goes.

Harry Moore, of Dunmore, was in Marlinton last week on business.

Judge Moore, of Covington, was a business visitor last week.

Mrs S. J. Boggs was at Arbovale last week extending her millinery business.

Kirke Snyder, formerly of this office, died at Lewisburg last week aged about 28 years.

Rev H. Lawson will preach in the M. E. church, South next Sunday at 11 a. m. and at Mt Pleasant at 3 p. m.

Cam Herold, once of The Times office, was in Marlinton last week. He is now in the Covington Sentinel office.

Dr J. B. Lockridge is convalescent to such an extent that he made a trip to Marlinton last Wednesday.

If you don't believe we sell cheaper than any body else, come here and we'll knock your doubts into convictions.—The Pocahontas Bargain House.

There are others just as good as we, but no others just as cheap.—The Pocahontas Bargain House.

D. P. Barnes has rented the old Marlinton bank building and will start up a first class restaurant in the near future.

Miss S. A. Stone and Mrs S. J Boggs will be at Cass on Saturday, May 11th, with a nice line of trimmed hats.

Auburn Mann, of Ponges Lane, was in Marlinton Thursday for a consignment of fruit trees. As matters now seem nothing promises better returns than good fruits.

As one passes along Marlinton's main street he is reminded of the way an Irishman complimented a town long years ago: "It is one of the natest places ye iver did see, ye cannot slip down in the strate without falling into a sthore or a bank."
